Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) Related to

Swagelok MPC Configurator Web Application

Below is a list of frequently asked questions regarding the locally installed Swagelok MPC Configurator Web Application. This FAQ covers the system requirements and technical issues for the Configurator, any questions on general use of the software are covered in the help file included with the software.

---

Question: What is the Swagelok MPC Configurator?

Answer: The Swagelok MPC Configurator is a software application with an easy-to-use interface for designing sample systems in the modular format. The output is a complete bill of material and an assembly schematic that details the exact placement of each individual component in the system construction. In addition, the configurator can provide basic engineering calculation functions along with AutoCAD & SolidWorks outputs.

---

Question: What is the Swagelok MPC Configurator Web Application?

Answer: The Swagelok MPC Configurator Web Application is web based application version of the MPC Configurator with an easy-to-use interface for designing sample systems in the modular format.

The only output available in the MPC Configurator Web Application is a complete bill of material and an assembly schematic that details the exact placement of each individual component in the system construction. All other output formats and integrations are disabled in the Web Application

---

Question: What are the base software requirements for the Swagelok MPC Configurator Web Application?

Answer: To use the basic configurator functions, excluding CAD outputs, the software requirements are:

- Microsoft Windows XP (any version), Microsoft Windows Vista (any version), or Microsoft Windows 7 (any version)
- Microsoft .NET 3.5.1 Framework
- Microsoft Internet Explorer

---

Question: What are the hardware requirements for the Swagelok MPC Configurator Web Application?

Answer: There are no specific hardware requirements for the MPC Configurator Web Application.

---

Question: What user account permissions are needed to run the MPC Configurator Web Application?

Answer: There are no specific account permissions need to run the MPC Configurator Web Application.

Question: Where can support for the MPC Configurator Web Application be obtained?

Answer: Support for the MPC Configurator is available through your local Swagelok Company distributor, which can be located at www.Swagelok.com. In addition, basic support information and the latest version of the configurator can be obtained at www.Swagelok.com.

---

Question: What technology is the MPC Configurator based on?

Answer: The MPC Configurator Web Application is based on the Microsoft XBAP (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/XAML_Browser_Applications) technology

---