

Biography

David J. Lucarelli | Chief Human Resources Officer, Swagelok Company

David Lucarelli was appointed chief human resources officer of Swagelok Company in 2020 and is responsible for developing and executing human resource strategy in support of the organization's overall business plan and strategic direction. Building on the strength of Swagelok Company's culture and core values, David is helping the organization broaden its capabilities related to succession planning, talent management, organizational and performance management, and Total Rewards programming.

Since joining the organization in 2006 as a human resource manager, David has supported the ongoing evolution of Swagelok's culture to attract, develop, and retain talent that will drive the organization's long-term success. He gained experience through roles as director of manufacturing and functional areas, talent management, and global HR and business partnerships before being named vice president of global human resources in 2018. Previously, David held positions as a human resources manager and consultant liaison manager for Allegis Group and as a senior human resources manager for Lockheed Martin Corporation.

In addition to serving as a trustee with the Swagelok Foundation, David serves on the American Cancer Society Board of Ambassadors and on the boards of the Greater Cleveland Sports Commission and Volunteers of America. He is married and has four daughters.

He holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in communications and public relations from Cleveland State University. David is also a certified Professional in Human Resources (PHR).
