Swagelok Manufacturing and Swagelok Louisiana to remain OPEN

March 23, 2020

Swagelok continues to monitor the ongoing developments regarding the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic. Many governments around the world are closing businesses that are deemed 'non-essential' to combat the spread of the coronavirus pandemic. The State of Louisiana's order incorporates guidelines issued by the Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA) within the Department of Homeland Security. Swagelok Louisiana will continue to operate as we support and serve the industries that the Department of Homeland Security has outlined as necessary to maintain the critical infrastructure of our nation. In addition, Swagelok Manufacturing production will continue since it is engaged in "Critical Manufacturing" as defined in these guidelines. We manufacture materials and products needed in many of the following industries that are listed: "medical supply chains, transportation, energy, communications, food and agriculture, chemical manufacturing, nuclear facilities, the operation of dams, water and wastewater treatment, emergency services, and the defense industrial base."

Accordingly, Swagelok will continue production, with increased focus when possible on any efforts that directly contribute to fighting this global pandemic. We will continue to prioritize the health of our associates at work, including increased cleaning, teleworking where applicable, enforcing social distancing wherever possible, and implementing associate self-checks to ensure that those who have possible exposure do not report to work. Our crisis management team meets daily, we continue to monitor updates from public health officials, and continuously make improvements to our response program.

In these unprecedented times, collaboration between our organizations is essential. We plan to maintain frequent contact with you during this time. We also ask you contact us with any material change to your business.

These are, without a doubt, historically challenging times. Together we can work to keep all our associates safe and continue to support your operations going forward.

Kind Regards,

Jimmy Uhl
President – Swagelok Louisiana
