

YOUR TRUE Advantage

All fluid-system Componentry manufacturers and suppliers make bold claims about their respective offerings. But, since 1947, Swagelok Tube Fittings have stood apart from all others, especially in the most challenging Oil and Gas, Chemical, Power, Steel, General Industrial, and Research-and-Development applications...

For a safer facility/project, to avoid leaks, and to substantially reduce operational costs, Swagelok Fittings are simply built better by design, delivering unparalleled performance due to our superior tube grip, gas seal, and vibration resistance. Our unique SAT12® low-temperature carbonization process gives our ferrules steel-like hardness and strength – with zero loss of corrosion resistance and material ductility.

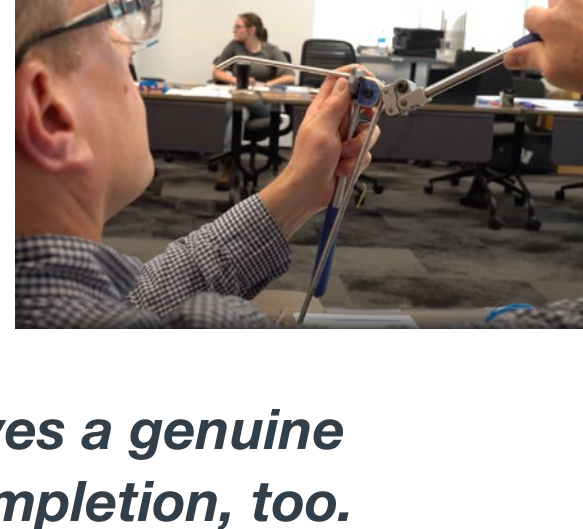

We also conduct continuous, rigorous tests on thousands of our fittings to ensure that they consistently meet our extremely stringent standards – and never leave you disappointed, even in high-risk environments. Lastly, you can rest assured that our proprietary blend of the finest available alloys and overall manufacturing control will yield ultra-reliable, repeatable results each time, every time.

IN JUST ONE DAY...

In addition, we offer comprehensive Installation & Tube Bending Training that will teach your maintenance technicians – new hires to experienced – how to safely and properly assemble a fluid system...no threading, flaring, soldering, welding, or brazing required. Our renowned one-day class can be conducted at your site or at our leading-edge Pittsburgh Training Center. We supply all course materials and are highly flexible with start/end times.

Plus, every graduate receives a genuine Swagelok Certificate of Completion, too.

More than 200

active Tube Fitting Patents

More than 40 Million

Tube Fittings manufactured each year

More than 150

Swagelok Tube Fittings are truly different

– in design, safety, and performance; in materials of construction and metallurgical chemistry; in how they're made, tested, and warranted – versus competitive brands.

And our "difference" means a much healthier Bottom Line for you.
